

INDEX OF MANUSCRIPTS

I refer only to their most important appearances. * = available free on line; in my experience the most useful directory of libraries that have put manuscripts on line is Digital medieval manuscripts, compiled by Albrecht Diem of Syracuse University (earlymedievalmonasticism.org/listoflinks.html#Digital).

PRE-CAROLINGIAN FRAGMENTS

UNABRIDGED MANUSCRIPTS FROM ABOUT 800

I treat Vienna 9-10 as an honorary member of this category. Strictly but less seriously, other exceptions to 'unabridged' are the pair Cambridge U. L. Dd 8 22 and Vat. Lat. 1955 and the trio Escorial R I 5, Phillipps 4197, Vat. Lat. 1954.

INDEX OF PASSAGES

Most passages of the Natural history that I cite are cited only for stemmatic purposes. I list here those that I discuss for their sense or for some other non-stemmatic reason.

Praef. , heading: § 7 i	28.80: 120-121
Praef. 7: § 7 ii	28.112: 121
Praef. 24-28: 343n	28.130: 121
2.25: 81n	36.18: 121
2.154: 69, 284n	36.45-46: 121
2.226: § 3 v	36.46: 121-122
18.313: 181	36.50: 122

GENERAL INDEX

This does not include editors of collaborative volumes unless they also contribute. I cite only the first of multiple authors, and I do not include every occurrence of the main editors (Sillig, Jan, Detlefsen, Mayhoff). Where I had a choice between a page and a section for a reference, I chose whichever seemed quicker to find.

As beginnings and ends are conspicuous, this seems a good place for thanking the team at Storia e Letteratura for their ready help and exemplary patience in seeing the volume into print.
